WOMEN HAVE NEW GYM

Move Into Frame Building Near Uncompleted School of Education Today

Permanent Gymnasium to Be on Women's Quadrangle Provided by Segregation

The women's gymnasium apparatus is being moved today. The new quarters are in the building erected north of the School of Education buildings being constructed at the corner of Kimbark ave. and Fifty-ninth st. The quarters just vacated were in the old general library.

The new gym is of wood, built in classic style, with a large veranda supported by huge pillars. It has an auditorium with a good-sized stage. The cost was $13,000. It is situated just north of the education buildings, and when all the buildings constructed in that block are completed it will occupy the center of the group, directly in the middle of the quadrangle.

The permanent gymnasium for women and the women's club house will be erected on their quadrangle, bounded by Woodlawn and Kimbark aves. and the Midway and Fifty-eighth st. This will be carrying out what was evolved by the University authorities as the general building plan in case the idea of segregation was carried out.

The location of a gymnasium and club house on the women's quadrangle will be the only difference between the quadrangles of the men and women. Just how long it will be before the permanent gymnasium is erected is only a matter of conjecture.

RESEARCH LIBRARY FOR RUSH

Additional Facilities for Advanced Work to Be Offered on West Side

It is quietly rumored that in the very near future a new research library will be opened in Rush Medical College on the West Side. This new room will be open to research workers only and will grant to its patrons several special privileges.

Among these privileges will be an arrangement for keeping the room open from 7:30 A. M. until 10:30 P. M. every day except Sunday. It will contain private reading tables, new magazine racks and several thousand volumes of newly-bound scientific journals and periodicals.

The research workers have felt the need of such a reading-room for many years as the conditions for such work are not the most favorable in the large general library.

The librarian, Miss MacAuliff, has been reticent about the whole project. It is understood, however, that she will have another assistant to help with the additional work.

STUDIES PLANS OF OUR BUILDINGS

Owen Ridley of University College, Reding, England, Visits Campus

Owen Ridley, deputy chairman of the council of University College, Reding, England, visited the campus yesterday. He is traveling through America for the purpose of studying the structures and designs of university buildings. With the observations and knowledge gained he hopes to obtain the benefits of the best modern experience in the preparation of plans for new buildings at Reding. With so many buildings in the process of construction the opportunities here afforded for such study are so remarkable that Mr. Ridley spent several hours examining both our unfinished and finished structures.

MANY CONJECTURES MADE

Separate Instruction Discussed by Students in Interviews for The Daily Maroon

As the trustees have decided that a plan for separate instruction will be adopted in the junior colleges, the topic of conversation on the campus for the past few days has been, "when will the new plan go into effect and what will be the outcome?" The majority of the male students express satisfaction with the move of the governing body and are desirous to have it installed as soon as possible. In order to obtain an expression of opinion from representatives of the students THE DAILY MAROON secured the following interviews:

Tom Hair, president of the senior class: "I believe that the move will prove beneficial and therefore favor it."

Arthur Thomas, president of the senior council: "I think segregation is a good scheme. I am glad that it has been decided on. I believe that the young women of the University will feel no resentment at the action of the trustees. I think almost all the opposition comes from the Alumnae."

Allan Burns, the cheer leader: I am strongly in favor of segregation. I think that the college life of the University will be greatly developed and benefited. The men will be brought into closer contact with each other, and will form more intimate associations. The freshmen and sophomore girls will also form closer associations. They will be better able to get together on their musical cheer.

Walker G. McLaury, president of the dramatic club: The idea of segregation does not seem to me consistent with the University's policy of co-education, nor with the speech which President Harper recently delivered at the installation of President James of Northwestern. Three years after the change is made, I believe that it will either be applied throughout the University, or else given up entirely. If applied throughout we are not offering the same work to both sexes.

Fred Moloney: I am heartily in favor of segregation in every sense of the word, and should be better pleased if it covered four years instead of two years.

Miss Elsie Calhoun: I think segregation is for the best, as all will benefit by it. Besides I do not care to be where I am not wanted.

Miss Davida Harper: I am heartily in favor of segregation, and think it will work wonders toward strengthening college spirit.

Cornelia Smith: I favor the segregation movement.

James M. Sheldon, captain football team: The action of the trustees in making separate instruction in the junior college an assured fact met with my most hearty approval. Floyd Harper, captain of baseball team: Separate instruction in the junior college will add much to our college life. Though many of the women seem opposed to the new measure, I feel that they will be benefited no less than the men.

One of the leaders in women's athletics: On the surface, the whole agitation seems to me a fruitless one. For, unless back of it all there is a deeper purpose and a greater end than that of mere advantage, I doubt if the result will justify the expenditure of money necessary for the carrying out of the scheme. And if there is a dearth of money it is surely the woman who will receive the inferior education and advantages.

Miss Irene Allyn: I think the girls will have a more distinct and a freer college life under the new regime.

Miss Bertha Isles: I rather think I favor the new plan.

Miss Martha Landers: Segregation is a bold step in the University's policy. I am unable to foretell what the result will be to our college life.

Miss Anna Youngman: I heartily oppose the separate instruction plan. It is a step backward in the educational development of our country.

Miss Dodge: I do not approve of segregation. I think it is a step toward the dis-continuing of the plan of co-education.

Miss Grace Reddy: I disapprove of segregation for I believe that the girls will not receive as good instruction as the boys.

Death of Dr. A. W. Stratton in India

Dr. A. W. Stratton, formerly an Associate in the Department of Comparative Philology, recently died in India. He was a devoted scholar of Sanscrit, and it was while pursuing the further study of his favorite subject that he was stricken down.

DRAMATIC CLUB TRIALS

Fall Trials Held in Kent Yesterday Bring Out Little New Material —Few Men Try.

Thirty people turned out for the Dramatic Club trials yesterday. Very few men contested for places. It was the poorest showing in number of men candidates that has ever been made at the fall trials.

There will be no further trials for the men. The successful candidates will be announced after the elections next week. The following young ladies will, however, have a final trial next Tuesday at 4 P. M. in Kent: Misses Barnet, Bock, Clendenning, Gibson, Houghton, Truitt, Weil, Wheeler, and Zachery.

If there are any other candidates, either men or women, who were prevented from attending the trials yesterday, they will be given a hearing on Tuesday afternoon, provided they notify the president prior to Tuesday noon.

The entire club is requested to be present at the Tuesday trials, as the election will take place after the trials. The announcement of the successful candidates, both men and women, will be made after this election.

KENNEDY SAYS WE WILL WIN

Captain of '99 Speaks at Mass Meeting Today—Garrey Says All Rooters Must Work

Walter Scott Kennedy, captain of our championship football team in '99, spoke at the mass meeting in Kent this morning.

"It seems like the good old times," were the star ex-Maroon's first words. Then he paused for a moment and seemed to be musing. Meanwhile every man and woman gave three times three for "Kenn" and '99" and Kent was in a continued uproar.

"This morning," he continued, "I clipped this little article from a morning paper. There are only a few words and I will read them.

Urbana, Ill., October 23.—With one more practice before the Chicago game, the Illini certainly look like winners to local rooters. There is not a spirit of overconfidence among the men, but they figure out that Illinois has the game won by a close margin.

"This tells distinctly the state of mind of the Illinois men. They expect to win. It reminds me of the story of the famous reply to the question, 'What's the matter with Kansas?' And then Kennedy related a hair-raising anecdote about the overconfidence of the Kansans.

"It is the same way with Illinois," he continued. "They are overconfident, and I know it. Our men are not. They are going into the game tomorrow to fight like—the dickens. And they are going to win."

The composite speech-making effort of the football men was as follows:

The prospects for a victory over Illinois are much brighter now than they were at this time last fall. The team is in pretty good shape. We will have good men in the game and good subs on the side-lines. We are going to do our part tomorrow and hope that you will do yours. We're glad to know that you are all with us and we predict that if you will all stick by us tomorrow and yell encouragement to us we will win. Yes! We will skin Illinois to death!

George Garrey spoke as follows:

The outcome of tomorrow's game depends not only on the men on the gridiron, but on the way you students root. The Illinois students know how to root, and in order to beat them we will have to yell for all we are worth. Those fellows are coming up here confident of victory. But if every man gets into the plays, and our rooters root, we will win. Win we must!

Jimmy Twohig, the Marshall Field director, made a characteristically pointed speech. He said:

"I'm shure de byes are goin' t' win widout fail—that's all oiv'e got t' say."

A MOST IMPORTANT GAME

Contest with Illinois Tomorrow Has State and Western Championship Significance

Team Fast and Men Going in to Win from Speedy Illini

We hardly realize what the game tomorrow means for us. The situation is most critical. Of course the way our schedule is arranged each game we came to was critical: the Knox, the Purdue, the Northwestern games. But tomorrow's contest is more important and also more in doubt than any previous one.

Last Saturday the local championship of Chicago and Cook County was decided: tomorrow will see the championship of the state settled. In a way it will be the city of Chicago against the state of Illinois. The University of Illinois draws from all over the state. Nearly every small town sends a delegation of students to Champaign; and in the three thousand rooters who will come up tomorrow all sections of the state will be represented. On the other hand the University of Chicago does not receive a very large number of students from the state outside of Chicago and adjoining towns.

Besides the championship of the state, both institutions have the western championship at stake. One team will be put out of the running and the other will be left in the championship class with Michigan and Wisconsin. If we win our chances for ultimate success will be excellent. Next Saturday Michigan and Wisconsin meet, and one of them will be defeated. The demoralization which follows a defeat may help us to win.

The rivalry between the two universities is intense. In past years we defeated them four times and they have defeated us twice. Last year they won 24 to 0, and so under the sting of that defeat we have the additional incentive of squaring accounts. The Chicago-Illinois scores for past years are:

Year	Illinois	Chicago
1893	28	12
1894	6	10
1896	0	12

Both teams are so far undefeated, and judging from comparative scores are about equal in strength. Illinois defeated North Division High School 34 to 6, while the previous week we only won 5 to 0. They beat Englewood High School 45 to 0, the week after we won 37 to 0. Against Monmouth they scored 33 points to our 24, and won from Purdue 29 to 5, while we scored 33 to their nothing. The lineup for tomorrow will be as follows:

Catlin, right end; Farr, right tackle; R. Maxwell, right guard; Ellsworth, center; Ahlsweide, left guard; Koehler, left tackle; Speik, left end; I. Maxwell, quarter-back; Sheldon, left-half; Ivison, right-half; Perkins, full.

Our team is in excellent condition and every man is on edge for the game. No hard scrimmages have been held this week, and we will not be handicapped by any lame, half-disabled men in the game at the start. Our substitutes are all pushing hard for regular places, and we can feel more secure in having a number of fresh men on the bench whom we can call upon if needed.

Some of the substitutes have been making such an excellent showing that several of them may replace Varsity men in tomorrow's game. "Big" Maxwell, at guard, may be

This means you, if you were one of those that left the room last Wednesday. There was an upper senior division meeting held last Wednesday in "that room on the first floor of Haskell." The hour was given by the faculty to the class in order to hold a class election. A division hour was used to "enthuse" a few by compulsory attendance.

But as soon as it was ascertained that attendance was not being taken, many began to leave the room. While nominations were being made for the office of president, the attention of numerous '03s was being directed to a careful gathering of their tomes about them and hastening out for class-room joys. True, by mighty learning we would score, but life must also have its lore, and that intangible something, class, does much to help our "lore."

If, perchance, you do not know many of the class, you can not get acquainted sooner. The class wants to know you, and you must soon see that you want to know the class. Would these seniors, generally victorious, from the time, as freshmen, they won and held the senior bench against the entire University, allow it to become the lore that '02 had beaten them by their very leaving?

'02 did much as a class; '03 must do more. But to do so the class must mean everybody eligible. Everybody must be interested in everything; must be on hand every time. And don't be a quitter.

The fraternity factional conflicts in athletic circles at Illinois this fall have all been smoothed over. The factions have buried the hatchet, at least till after the Chicago-Illinois game.

The fact that such a condition has been existent in one of our sister universities this fall leads us to congratulate ourselves that at Chicago there never has been, and never can be any such internal dissension. Within the last three years we can recall similar fights at Wisconsin, Northwestern, and Michigan, in several instances causing vital injury to the Varsity team itself. But during all that time our affairs have sailed on in undisturbed happiness and union.

The efficient application of justice by Mr. Stagg in all his coaching prevents any such predicament as this from ever arising. His fairness is such that the best man is always picked for the place, regardless of fraternity connections or "pulls" of any other kind.

The maintenance of this ideal in athletics has had its effect on all our student activities. With but very occasional and slight exceptions, our student organizations are characterized by the rule of Justice and Merit.

ODE TO THE DAILY MAROON

The following contribution was found yesterday pinned to the case of the outside door of THE MAROON office, in the Press Building:

OWED TO THE DAILY MAROON
(WITH APOLOGIES TO R. K.)

"This is the horrible story,
Told when the twilight fails,
And the monkeys walk together,
Holding their neighbors' tails!"

Our brothers "rush" on the campus,
Our brothers fumble the ball,
Our brothers are beat at the great fall
meet,
—Nor is that the worst of all.

Our brothers leave the sunshine
To study in Haskell Hall.
They lecture and write long theses
On "Social Functions: The Doll."

They tear up their brother humans,
Like vultures, in Culver Court.
They segregate their girl-kind,
And go in for "manly sport."

Worst, they gather this foolishness up,
And dish it, each afternoon,
In the shape of a two-fer, a rag,
Which they call the "Daily Baboon."

The editors would like to have the contributor call at their den so as to give them an opportunity to express their appreciation even more forcibly than by publishing this wonderful literary effort.
