NEW DAILY PAPER

Gratifying Interest in Publication of The Daily Maroon Founded To-day

HISTORY OF THE FOUNDING

If Students Subscribe as Expected and Patronize Advertisers Permanence Sure

The news event of the opening day in the quarter is the appearance of THE DAILY MAROON. As the first copies leave the presses in the new building of the University Press, the editors and business staff express the belief that with this issue the founding of a student paper is accomplished; and that long after they are gray-headed alumni THE DAILY MAROON will appear every afternoon, an old paper then, but always new and filled with bright U. of C. news.

This is assured if the students will patronize our advertisers and if they will subscribe to the paper. From hundreds of expressions of interest, the founders are confident the students generally will give all the support desired.

The movement for the founding of the paper started last fall when the managing editor and business manager held similar positions on the University of Chicago Weekly.

Together they submitted to President Harper suggestions in reference to the establishment of a daily newspaper and a monthly literary magazine to take the place of the Weekly.

Some scheme of business management to insure stability was the imperative demand. The managing editor suggested official university management as in the athletics, and the business manager suggested a subsidy from the university.

The net result was a faculty discussion which crystalized the sentiment that the university must not in any way subsidize the student daily, that the paper must be a self-supporting student activity.

At the end of the winter quarter last year, nine men joined with the present managing editor and decided that they would undertake the financial and editorial responsibility for publishing a daily during one year, provided the students would give them the authority, successive boards chosen in open competition to assume the responsibility annually.

The ten were Messrs. Fleming, McLaurin, Collins, Ford, Henry, Wyman, McNair, Tische, J. F. Adams, and Stewart.

They announced a mass-meeting to be held May 15, "for the organization of a new student activity." This announcement aroused considerable curiosity. The object of the meeting was explained to the Class of 1902, and the class unanimously adopted a resolution of support for the movement.

In the meantime Mr. Moon had also been working on plans for the starting of a daily and had associated with himself Messrs. Conrad and Brode in a stock company for the development of the Weekly into a daily and monthly.

The day before the mass-meeting President Harper called Mr. Fleming and Mr. Moon to his office and said, "Get together, gentlemen." The obstacle was the fact that Mr. Moon owned the Weekly and had quite a sum invested.

It was known that Mr. Fesler, secretary of the Mann Association, had in mind a plan for alumni business responsibility for the proposed publications. He was appealed to and

NEW LAW SCHOOL A SUCCESS

Temporary Home in Press Building—Large Registration—Deans Gratified—Incoming Students from Northwestern and Other Rival Schools—A New Law Degree Given—Big Library and Good Faculty

The Law School opens its doors for the first time today in its spacious temporary home in the Press building with every indication that it will be a pronounced success. Although in the other schools and colleges, there were no recitations today, short meetings of the law classes were held.

It is now assured that the attendance will be all that could be expected and, to say the least, decidedly gratifying to Professor Joseph H. Beale, the dean from Harvard, and Professor Ernst Freund, formerly on the general faculty.

"Laws" from Wisconsin, Harvard, Northwestern, and Stanford are adding their names to the registration rolls and swelling the number. It is not possible to state today how many students will be enrolled.

A well appointed library and an eminently capable faculty are largely instrumental in effecting such an auspicious opening. The work of the faculty, made up of instructors from the Harvard, Leland Stanford, and Northwestern law schools will be supplemented with discussions by prominent lecturers. Former members of our faculty will also be numbered in the organization of the new school.

The University of Chicago Law School is the first to offer the degree of Juris Doctor. Other prominent schools are considering its adoption, Harvard having already recommended such a change to its faculty and trustees. The degree of L.L.B. will be given to unclassified students, and to third-year students who have completed one year in the law school. The degree of J.D. will be given to those who have completed the six year course, three of which must be in the Law School.

The library, which is the best law school library in the West, consists of American, English, Scotch, Irish, Australian and Indian Reports and Statutes, besides a large collection of Treatises and Trials. When the last shipment of books is put in place the library will consist of 18,000 volumes.

THE MONTHLY MAROON

First Issue of New University of Chicago Literary Magazine to Appear October 25

The initial number of the new literary monthly will be issued about October 25. It will be known as THE MONTHLY MAROON.

Published as it is by representatives of the student body, its purpose shall be to print anything of literary worth that the editors may be able to obtain from the students.

The success of this undertaking will rest largely, then, with the students themselves. Every student is earnestly solicited to send to the managing editor or associate editor, Mr. Collins, any stories, sketches, essays or verse that he may have.

While a temporary editorial board will be selected for the first issues of the magazine at once, the merit system will be instituted thereafter for selecting the editors. Contributors not on the editorial board may displace any member of this board by doing superior work.

Contributions for the first issue should be in the hands of the editors by October 10 and may be left at THE MAROON office or addressed to Managing Editor Roy D. Keehn, care of Faculty Exchange.

AUSPICIOUS OPENING TODAY

Fall Quarter of the University Opens with Largest Attendance in its History—Total Registration up to Noon, 1935—New Rule for Medics

With its usual accompaniment of long lines of students anxious to pay their money to the registrar, the autumn quarter began this morning. A noticeable feature of the opening was that the men and women paid their bills at different places, the women at the old registrar's office in Cobb Hall and the men at an improvised office in the Press Building. This feature formed the subject for conjectures among the students as to whether or not it was a forerunner of separate instruction.

A new regulation in the Medical School which provides that one year's university credit must be offered for entrance, cut down the number of registrations to considerably less than last year.

The total registrations up to twelve o'clock as estimated from the reports of the various deans follows. In the right-hand column is the registration for last year as compiled from the president's quarterly statement.

	1902	1901
Divinity School.....	170	192
Graduate Schools.....	250	435
Senior College.....	230	287
Junior College.....	700	723
Unclassified.....	100	146
Medical School.....	190	271
School of Education.....	95	107
Law School.....	100	...
Totals.....	1,935	2,162

The figures for this year as compared with the total for last year, lead university officials to estimate that the attendance this year, when the complete registration is in, will exceed that of last year by 200 at the very least.

A new gymnasium for the women students is in process of erection on Monroe avenue, near the new School of Education building. Although it is a frame building and is planned as a temporary "Gym" the University girls are looking forward with pleasure to the time when it shall be completed.

So far there have been no definite plans announced for the women's gymnastic work of this quarter. Miss Gertrude Dudley, who has charge of the women's gymnasium has returned and is now busily engaged in planning the work.

VARSITY vs. SOLDIERS TODAY

Director Stagg Sends Scrubs to Aurora—Season Tickets on Sale for Students

The prospects for a successful and satisfactory foot-ball season are, in many respects, much brighter than ever before in the history of the University.

Even in 1899, when we won the championship of the West, at a corresponding stage in the development of the team, in respect to many important considerations, the prospects were not so favorable. The great point that year was the return of a complete back-field of star veterans. But even in that great season there were too few candidates, as a fundamental factor of foot-ball is the development of men for the maintenance of a system. This is the year for a new start for us in the western football race.

The squad this year is larger than ever before. It has already reached the fifty mark and should in the next three days, with the opening of college, be increased by at least a score.

The size of the squad is due in no small degree to the efforts of Director Stagg and Manager Butterworth, and also to the alumni. Last spring the first interscholastic track meet served incidentally, from a university point of view, as a means of interesting the high-school boys in the University. This fall the athletes have the best of accommodations. They are located in the best hall and an excellent training-table has been provided.

Only seven of last year's team have returned with Captain Sheldon, but the squad contains an abundance of excellent material, men who have been stars on their high-school teams, or have played a year or two on small college teams.

The men are new at university playing and, of course, they are not used to playing together. This will necessitate a slow development, but before the season is over, with the excellent coaching the men will get, there should be a good team. Mr. Stagg is, as everyone knows, head coach, and his greatness is too well known to need comment. He will be ably assisted by two members of last year's team, George Garrey, the star quarter back, and Orville Atwood, full back.

It is not too late yet to try for the team, although practice has been going on for three weeks. The places have not been decided, and there is always room for a good man. Freshmen especially should get out and try for the scrubs, so as to be in line for next year.

The scrub team this year is undoubtedly the best scrub team Chicago has ever had, as was demonstrated last Saturday in the game with Hyde Park. The scrubs defeated the High School boys 5 to 0, while last Wednesday the Varsity only won from the same team 6 to 5. The game was played throughout with remarkable dash and brilliancy.

The schedule this year is specially attractive to the rooters from the fact that all the games are to be played on the home grounds. There will be a game on Marshall Field every Wednesday and Saturday until the

EDITORIALS

The editors of THE DAILY MAROON hope to be of valuable service to the The Aims student-body and to our of The Daily University. In our work Maroon we hope not merely to fill the functions of a university newspaper, but to lay the ground work of a continued line of development for this activity until the practical ideal is attained.

Our first aim will be to tell the news of all parts of the University in an entertaining manner. We are determined that this "Maroon" shall not "turn yellow." It is a very easy matter to make mistakes in any kind of public writing, but we shall avoid them by keeping always before us this motto: "The good of our University and its students."

Of course, this means the University's welfare as the students see it. It is more than likely that occasionally we may offer some suggestions in reference to official actions and plans. In whatever we write we will avoid the spirit of petty fault-finding and endeavor to contribute suggestions of value from the student point of view.

In reference to the activities of the students it will be our endeavor to give any man or woman who does anything good for our University the credit due. We will encourage the fault-finders and discourage the fault-finders; we will endeavor to add to the university life by helpful criticism and suggestion.

We trust that the entire student body will feel that the paper is their own, that the students will contribute news, suggestions, and aid to THE DAILY MAROON reporters whenever possible.

The competition for places on the staff of reporters begins at once. It will last for one quarter. The news "hustlers" who show ability will be given places on the staff of reporters for the winter quarter. Then the competition for the spring quarter will begin, and each reporter will work to hold his place on the staff. At the end of the year those who have done the best work as reporters will be elected to the board of editors. We hope there will be many candidates, so as to assure the future of THE DAILY MAROON.

Of all the questions considered in the University since the last Autumn quarter, the proposed separation of manly men together, and the girls that charm and character from daily life with live, womanly young women, we all want the university life, the feeling of partnership in the whole University of Chicago. The plan of the University administration seems to provide for the realization of all these desires in balance.

It is a thoroughly complicated problem involving (1) administrative, (2) educational, and (3) social questions. The social question involves the relations of young men among themselves, young women among themselves, and the relations between young men and young women during two vital years of their student life.

Because THE DAILY MAROON has been founded to aid in the development of our student life at the U. of C., we can best discuss the social phase of the question, and at the outset we should state that THE DAILY MAROON will always stand ready to encourage any plan that will contribute to the improvement of our already interesting and valuable university life.

If the separate instruction plan is carried out, it will mean that there will be a Junior College for men in a quadrangle on the Midway west of Cobb hall, and a Junior College for women in a quadrangle on the Midway in the other direction. In each quadrangle there will be not only lecture halls and laboratories, where the same Junior College courses required for all will be given, but also dormitory buildings. The result would be a definite basis for two distinct, unified groups of people. At present the lack of clearly defined large groups in the University is often felt in promoting student activities.

In a general way a majority of the men seem to favor the change. But in a jocose manner they say seriously: "If they don't take the girls away from the University it will be all right."

But most of the young women seem to be opposed. The alumnae are bringing pressure to bear on the trustees in the hope of causing the board to reject the plan. One trustee says they are indulging in hysteria. We believe that the fundamental cause for their fight is the fear that by some hidden scheme they are to be deprived of equal opportunity for higher education, which they are sure of when in the same classes as the men. The president and faculty members have held that they should make no statement until the trustees have acted. In our opinion this has been the cause of much trouble. If a simple, yet comprehensive exposition of the plan—not an argument for it—had been made public, not only the young women, but many mothers throughout the country would have been spared needless anxiety.

But we believe there is no doubt that in college life the girls of the U. of C. will make wonderful gains from the creation of a woman's college in the University. Many a girl in the halls has listened almost with envy to another tell of a year at a woman's college, and the delights of the college life of college girls together. And there has never been anything better for the college life of our U. of C. girls than their "segregated" athletics on Marshall Field last year.

But above all, this is a university, and these colleges would be integral parts of the University of Chicago.

While the men want the virile life which comes from the comraderie of manly men together, and the girls that charm and character from daily life with live, womanly young women, we all want the university life, the feeling of partnership in the whole University of Chicago. The plan of the University administration seems to provide for the realization of all these desires in balance.

EDITORIAL ELECTIONS

Since the elections of the editorial board of THE DAILY MAROON last spring two vacancies in the executive positions have necessitated a re-election. At the original elections at the close of the spring quarter when the group of twelve men was authorized by the student-body, in mass-meeting, to organize into two boards, the following division and elections to the executive positions of the two boards were effected: For the DAILY, Herbert E. Fleming, managing editor; Harry W. Ford, news editor, and Eli P. Gale, athletic editor; for the MONTHLY, Roy D. Keehn, managing editor, and Charles W. Collins, associate editor.

Since the spring elections the following vacancies and changes have been made in the board: Harry W. Ford, news editor-elect recently resigned his position on THE DAILY MAROON to join the staff of the Mining Gazette at Houghton, Mich. Mr. Ford's loss will be especially felt at this time since his hearty efforts in behalf of the new activity were effective; the other vacancy was occasioned by the resignation of Eli P. Gale as athletic editor. Mr. Gale, however, will continue his relations with the board as an associate editor. The resignation of Mr. Ford in favor of Oliver B. Wyman and Mr. Gale's resignation in favor of Robert L. Henry were acted upon. The elections were made accordingly.

Frank Adams was elected to fill the vacancy on the board made by Mr. Ford. The managing editor is pleased to announce the election to the board as women editors, of Miss Cornelia S. Smith and Miss Julia C. Hobbs.

Walter Kennedy, '00, is coaching the Lake Forest Academy team.

expressed the belief that the association would purchase the Weekly from Mr. Moon. The result was that at the mass-meeting, a resolution asking the alumni to purchase the paper was adopted.

The ten men named, with Messrs. Keehn and E. P. Gale added to the list, were authorized to be the editors of the proposed daily and monthly for one year, and Mr. Moon was recommended for business manager, this action being taken at a meeting which crowded Kent Theater.

Opposition to the plan developed among the alumni. Finally, during the summer, a committee of fifteen, appointed on Alumni Day, was about to send out an adverse report. With Henry Gale, '96, of the committee, acting as adviser, the managing editor, representing the editors, and Mr. Moon, came to a compromise agreement, and Mr. Moon withdrew his proposition to the alumni.

The agreement provides for an equal division of the financial responsibility between the business manager and the combined editorial boards. It provides specifically that all subsequent boards of editors shall be selected in competition open to all students. This board, through an auditing committee, has insight into the books, and elects the business manager, the retiring manager nominating. By this means the paper is to be a self-supporting student activity.

There have been two student dailies and one tri-weekly in the history of the university.

The University News was started Oct. 17, 1892, and ran almost through the first year of the university, suspending publication April 19, 1893.

The tri-weekly was called The Maroon. It first appeared May 15, 1895, and was discontinued March 20, 1896.

The third effort took place in the spring of 1900 when a paper named The Daily Maroon was published from May 12 to June 23.

In every case these papers were discontinued because of inadequate business management.

The present editors and business managers are not at all afraid of the name they have chosen. Because the university is now so large, and because on both business and editorial sides the paper has been carefully and comprehensively organized, the founders are confident that THE DAILY MAROON will last.

MAJORS and MINORS

The Phi Delta Thetas will give an informal Saturday night, October 4, at Rosalie Hall.

The Friars, who were true to their vows for a year, have disbanded. They say 'twas Cupid's work.

Dr. A. K. Parker, Head of Hitchcock Hall, will be ably assisted by James Weber Linn, Henry Preston Chandler, and George Henry Garrey, who have been appointed assistant Heads.

RUSH MEDIC NOTES.

Prospects are bright in the medical school for a large enrollment. Most of the old men are back, and many new are registering.

The school suffers the loss of Dr. Lyon, of the physiology department, this quarter. Dr. Lyon is pursuing investigations in Italy.

The offer of a sea aquarium as an inducement for Dr. Loeb to leave the University to become an instructor at the University of California has no charms for the doctor. He will give his usual courses in physiology this fall.

ALUMNI NOTES.

Miss Charlotte Teller, '98, was married recently at the home of her uncle, Senator Teller, in Denver.

Marshall E. Sampson, '96, was recently appointed clerk of the United States Circuit Court.

Roosevelt Will Be Here Later

Although every member of the University is greatly disappointed by President Roosevelt's inability to be with us Friday, nevertheless it is given out on excellent authority that the president will visit the West, if possible, before Congress opens.

At President Harper's office it was stated this morning that plans will be made for the special convocation at such time as is convenient for President Roosevelt to come, and that he will then receive the degree of Doctor of Laws from the University.

Our team deserves support. It is not only a good team but a good fighting team. Last year we had a plucky team and they deserved the hearty support given them. There is no reason why this team should not be as plucky, and no reason why they should not have the same support. The wearing of the maroon should be an inspiration.

Manager Butterworth has made arrangements to let the students have season tickets at reduced rates. They may be had from him personally or at the Information Office. These tickets, which entitle the holder to a reserved seat, are sold for $4.00. The season tickets which are sold to the public vary in price from $8.00 to $20.00. The $8.00 kind entitle the holder only to admission. Those who have not already done so should purchase a season ticket immediately and attend the game this afternoon.

The rooms of the foot-ball men are situated on all four floors in the west wing of the new dormitory. Those who have been through the hall know how luxurious the apartments are. The furniture is especially attractive, the "Bradley" style being used throughout.

The dining-room is in the basement club-room, where the first regular training-table dinner was served last evening. Twenty-two men have been sent to the training table. The list follows:

Backs and ends—Captain Sheldon, Perkins, L. Maxwell, Jennison, Speik, and F. Harper of the old men; Schur, Wightman, Bezdek, Hitchcock, Catlin, and Ivison of the new men. Line men—Ahlswede, Ellsworth, and Terry of the old men; Farr, Koehler, R. Maxwell, Buckley, Tripp and Parry of the new men.

Six others have been assigned to rooms in the training quarters at Hitchcock hall, and Coach Stagg announced that he would increase the number on the table to thirty. The six are: Conrad, of last year's squad; Oliver, Mincer, Mefford, Linton, and Hughes of the new men.

Thirty-two of the best men in the squad will, in all probability, be lodged in the new "millionaire's den," though at the present time arrangements for only twenty have been made. It is the intention of Mr. Stagg to increase this number during the season, as the new men prove their ability.

ACADEMY NOTES

The old Rugby system of "fagging" as a means of initiation for "freshies" was revived at Morgan Park this fall and for one short week the new "pups" were kept on the jump running errands and blacking boots for the seniors. The new initiation is a substitute for the time honored "hot foot" that was abolished after a serious "town and gown" fight last fall.

The South Side Academy, or the University Secondary School, as it has been rechristened, opened for the Autumn session September 24. There are more than two hundred students in attendance.

Porter Smith is manager and Russel Crane captain of the South Side Academy football team.

Dearborn seminary opened this morning.

Over $600 was subscribed at a student mass-meeting last week to support M. P. A. athletics.

UNIVERSITY LECTURES

Interesting Courses Arranged by University Lecture Association

The University Lecture Association, in co-operation with the University of Chicago, has announced a series of courses of lectures to be given in each of the principal divisions of the city.
